

H. DANSKY & CO.

October 30th, 1910. Mrs. Orenstein.

Jenny Friedman. Jenny lives in Brooklyn. It takes her an hour, ~~an hour~~ and a quarter to travel, therefore she is often late and is docked. She did not seem to know at what rate. The constant standing is very difficult. "Often when I get home my legs are just numb, and I do not seem to have any". Jenny says that her mother does a great deal of sewing both for herself and her sister. She makes dresses and shirt-waists for them. In making a rough estimate of clothes expenditures for the past year, these figures were obtained.
